TUESDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 17, 1874.

TO DISTANT SUBSCRIBERS. From and after the first day of January, 1875, under the late act of Congress, the postage must be prepaid by us on all papers sent to subscribers out of the county. On all subscriptions paid in advance we will pre-pay the postage and forward at our regular rates. As we do not feel disposed to continue the paper to those in arrears, and lose both subscription and postage, we thus give timely notice, that all of the above-mentioned class of subscribers who wish the paper continued after the 1st day of January next, may have abundant time to settle up back dues and pay in advance for another year.

WHY IS IT THUS?

The present stringency of the money market in this section, caused in the main by the low price of wheat and the consequent non-sale of the bulk of this year's crop so far, gives sufficient ground for the query; Why is it that our farmers do not engage more extensively in other and more profitable productions?

Thousands of dollars are sent out of the county annually for bacon, lard, beans, clover and timothy seed, potatoes and other vegetables, fruits, &c., which should be retained at home, and in addition our exports of these articles should at least equal the quantities now imported, which prove a continual drain upon the circulating medium of the county, and in case of a ready sale of the wheat crop (as at present) not being effected, results in the so-called "hard times" through which we are now passing.

This is not as it should be. It is an unhealthy state of affairs, which our farming community should take into serious considera tion, and apply the remedy. Let our crops be more varied, and in case of a dullness in the market as to one particular product, let us be prepared to ship something else that commands a more remunerative price, and we will at once feel a sensible realization of a favorable change in our local financial matters .-This subject is fit food for discussion among our subordinate Granges of the Patrons of Husbandry, and we are sure they could not more profitably employ the hours of their meetings than in devising means for public relief in this particular.

THE NEXT CONGRESS.

The New York Herald says that the next Congress will present an unfamiliar spectacle to the frequenter of the galleries of the House, and correspondents will be kept busy noting the new faces which have just appeared upon the scene and bewailing the absent heroes whom an untoward fate has left at home .-"The dignified bearing and white mustache of Fernando Wood; the eccentric comedy of Sunset Cox: the modest, quiet face of Michael Kerr; the weazen form of Alexander H. Stephens, will employ as many pens as before. General Banks will be hailed upon his return to the floor as a Democrat once more, and one or two other Republican leaders in times past will be noted for their activity on the other side. Speaker Blaine, hurled from his Olym pian throne to the common lot of common Congressmen, will cause many Sapphic tears to flow, and General Garfield, long the hayseed god of bombazine quill-drivers, will be described as a picture of utter loneliness and despair. But Dawes, for so many years the heavy father of the House, owing to the tidal wave which swept over Massachusetts, will be found not there, neither in the Senate, where a Democrat will sit in the chair of Chas. Sum ner. Horace Maynard, dark and swarthy as an Indian, a favorite subject for the female pen, has also disappeared. The rich, ambrosial locks of Gen. Negley, a match for Logan's raven hair and Farnsworth's flowing beard in the days of auld lang syne, will no longer float through the corridors and in and out of the Speaker's room. Gen. Sypher's military bearing will be missed at the head of the army of strikers. But, saddest picture of a saddening scene, Gen. Butler will range no more with leonine ferecity through the National menagerie. In his loss the dramatic element of the House is lost indeed."

THANKSGIVING.

In accordance with the sentiments of an hange, we think it would be en hal the Gavernor of West Virginia, as well as all the Governors of the Southern States, will unite in this recommendation. Glory to God in the highest; peace on earth, and good will to men!

ration, evince,

At the recent session of the Episcopal General Convention, in New York, the work of grasping with ritualism, which had been evaded by the two former Conventions, was taken hold of and dealt with, it is claimed, in a summary manner. The three principal questions before the Convention were ritual ism, shortening or omitting some of the usual services, and infant baptism. Canons discouraging the first and allowing the second were adopted, but action was refused to be taken with regard to the third.

he Some of our West Virginia exchanges are canvassing the name of D. S. Eichelberger, of the Martinsburg Statesman, in connection with the office of Clerk of the State Senate. Weendorse this nomination most cordially. No more fearless and persistent oppment of Radicalism has championed the rights of the people against all monepolies, than Smith E challenge against all services may well coallenge a recognition at the bands of the Democracy of the State. In the position named, he would make a faithful and efficient officer.

CITY OF NEW YORK.

[From the Martinsburg Statesman.] The public rejoicing over the results of the recent elections held last week in the city of New York under the auspices of the Manhatten Club, was of a most brilliant character. Among those who made speeches upon that occasion were Samuel J. Tilden, recently elected governor of New York, Senator Thur man of Ohio, Bayard of Delaware, Eaton of Connecticut, and Stockton of New Jersey .-It was indeed a gathering, upon very short notice, of the leaders of the democracy of the Union: Invitations by telegram were sent to Horatio Seymour, Geo Kemper of Virginia, John Quincy Adams, William Gaston, the governor elect from Massachusetts, Hon. Charles J. Faulkper of this place, and others. but not being able to be present at the cele bration, they sent back replies which are published in the New York papers.

Mr. Faulkner was absent at the Jefferson court when the invitation reached here on Thursday. The following was his admirable

MARTINSBURG, WEST VA.) Nov. 6th, 11 o'clock, A M. To Manton Marble, Esq, Hon. S. S. Cox, &c., Manhatten Club, 96 Fifth Avenue, New York City :

Received your dispatch too late to be present n body, but my heart is with you in all the fullness of your joy. Honor to the Empire State ! Honor to all the other States, that have so nobly rallied to the rescue of the constitution and liberties of their country! Coruption is rebuked; imperialism crushed; and he persecuted South cheered with the assurance, that law, liberty and order will once more bless their desolated homes. In your rejoicing forget not that the little Mountain state of West Virginia was one of the first that gave expression to this national protest against official dishonesty and oppression.

SENATOR GORDON SPEAKS.

- At a great political demonstration and jubilee held in Atlanta, Ga., on the 5th instant, Senator Gordon made a speech, in which he made an earnest appeal for continued prudence and forbearance, which he said were the chris-I ask in the hour of your deliverence. I ask you to commission me in your name to pledge tianity of all politics. He said : "One boon upon the floor of the Senate your fidelity to the Union under the constitution; your acquiescence in the laws passed in accordance with the constitution, good and bad, until lawfully repealed; your support of all rightful authority; your cordial friendship for every man and all men of all sections who will aid in restoring peace to the sections, justice to the States, liberty to citizens, purity to all departments of the government and the constitution; to its supremacy over Presidents. Congress, and parties and the people. [Loud cheers.] I thank you, my countrymen, for that response. You are as temperate in triumph as you were great in adversity. You cherish malice to none, and are hostile only to thieves, usurpers and tyrants."

PARTY NAME.

The following, touching the party name from the Jackson (Tenn.) Whig and Tribune, is as sensible and logical as it is timely : "It is time that all men in our midst who have cher ished a traditional hatred for the word Democrat should cease to do so. The party is com posed of all that is best in material and principle in the two old parties. Since the war in every locality where the new organization -acting under a new name-has been in wer, it has shown its liberality. The present Governor of Tennessee was a Whig .-The governor elect was a Whig The Governor of Kentucky was a Whig, and so was the Governor of Missouri. In nearly every Southern State the highest offices in the gift of the party have been given to those who called themselves by some other name in the past, and it is time that the antipathies of the old Whigs were dead. In most instances they are, but this old, lurking feeling should fade out utterly "

THE VICE-PRESIDENT ON THE ELECrions .- Vice-President Wilson gives the New York Tribune his views on the republican defeat, and says the result shows the necessity for a liberal and magnanimous policy. With statesmen for republican leaders he believes the party will recover itself two years hence. He believes the democrats will by their blundering policy contribute to that end. As to the cause of the late defeats he said thousands of republicans did not vote or voted ainst the party to check some of its tens, and if the party adopt a prudent, lidate could earry any of the Northern . 6d but few of the Southern States What will become of the negroes now that the Democrats are coming into power?" is a conundrum often asked nowadays by Radical demagogues and the editors of what were lately Grant Administration organs. Well, we venture to say that the ne groes will fare better under the administration of the next Democratic President, whoever he may be, than they have fared since the inauguration of General Grant in 1869. The Democrats may promise less to the colored race, but they will give them more real bene firs than the Radicals have given them. We shall not be surprised it in 1876 two-thirds of the negro voters in the South are found supporting the regular Democratic nominations.

[New York Herald. In the Tammany Hall jubilee. New York, over the election result, the following pointed burlesque telegram was rread: ALBANY, N Y., November 3 1874 - If

ANOTHER VICTIM TO WHISKEY -The Franklin Monitor, published at Rocky Mount, Va., reports the dreadful death of an old man named Young, under the following circumstances: "A few nights ago old Mr. James Young who lived on Stony creek, in this county, went home in a state of intoxication and lay down before the fire to take a nap .--Sometime during the night his clothes caught fire, and not being able to extinguish the flames, they were entirely consumed upon his body, which was so badly burned that death ensued the following morning. No one lived in the house with this old man, and consequently no one was present to minister to his relief and save him from his terrible death When found on the following day he was yet alive and conscious, and recollected all about how he came to meet his awful tate."

EIGHT CHILDREN NEARLY KILLED BY GAS FROM A STOVE .- On Monday morning, before daylight, J. A. Duburst, residing on Easton avenue, New Brunswick, N. J., was awakened by hearing one of his daughters fall from her bed to the floor in the room above that in which he was sleeping, and on going up stairs found that eight children, all of whom slept in rooms connecting with each other, were unconscious from the effects of coal gas escaping from a stove in one of the rooms. Had not one of them had strength enough left to attempt to get up, and in the artempt fallen on the floor, awakening her father, probably the entire eight would have dead before daylight. Dr. English was and pronounced all of them probably danger, though the effects did not pass mediately, and some of them were se-OFFICIAL CERTIFICATES OF ELECTION .-Ipon inquiry of Mr. Faulkner we learn that e has received from the commissioners conducting the election at the Court-House but eight official certificates of the vote of their counties; to wit : Berkeley, Hampshire, Hardy, Pocahontas, Randolph, Pendleton, Webster and Tucker. No official certificates have been received from the other ten counties of this congressional district. It is believed that a fair construction of the law requires that one of the certificates shall be sent to the Governor, another to the member elect, and a third to be deposited with the clerk of the County Court, to be there preserved among the archives of his office. [ Martinsburg Statesman A SPOON FOR BUILES.—There is at the works of the Remond Stove Company, in this city, an immense iron spoon, three vards long, and weighing twenty prinds. It was exhibited, among of er curiositios, at the State Fair, and attracted considerable attention. This spoon was used at Dutch Gap by the Confederate soldiers of the purpose of dispure cabbase and was used at Dutch Gap by the Confederate soldiers for the purpose of dishing cabbase and "pot-liquor" from a large caldron into the plates of the soldiers, for bailing water from the trenches in rainy weather, as a spade by those agriculturally inclined, as a frying pan when there was anything to fry—in short, it came in for all purposes, and was a treasure to the camp. It is now in presession of the Richmond Stove Company. The owners thereof (knowing General Butler's weakness) have determined to send it Butler's weakness) have determined to send it to him at his home in Massachusetts, and one of our public-spirited citizens has I aid the express coarges on it. It is labelled. "Too heavy for Butler to take with him,"—Richmond Whig.

AT-The Washington Chronicle referring to the la e Radical "disasters" says: "Congress says the President did it, and the President says Congress did it; but after considerable inquiry and reflection we have concluded that the Dem-ocratic party did it."

GRAND DEMONSTRATION IN THE | WEST VIRGINIA LEGISLATURE. | President Grant, and the Late Elections.

> In his inaugural address delivered on the 4th of March, 1869, President Grant said: "I shall, on all subjects, have a policy to recommend, but none to enforce against the will of the people."

It remains to be seen whether the Presdent will submit to the will of the people as declared in the recent elections. Will he withdraw the troops now engaged in harassing the people of several of the States of the South with vexations and frivolous arrests, against the declared will of the people, not only of those States, but of the whole Union, as unmistakably indicated in the elections that have lately been held? [Lynchburg Virginian.

A Woman Without Bores.

The social developments across the water show a lamentable state of affairs due apparently to no other cause than a deficiency of backbone in one or two individuals.

When the disastrous consequences proceed from the weakening of a part only of the human framework, we sincerely trust that there may be no spreading of the disease de veloped across the ocean in the person of an Irish woman, who lived to see her entire skeleton waste away until it was but a fourth part as heavy as a new born hahe

The case occurred in Dublin, and may truly be called extraordinary. The victim, forty five years old, was a patient in an in sane asylum. For five years she was confined to her bed, complaining of no pain, but gradually becoming weaker, while dwindling in stature until she lost balf her height. As the disease progressed, her limbs were coiled up in every possible shape, the bones becoming extremely light, soft, fragile, and atrophied in every respect. At death, all that was left of her skeleton, including the skull, weighed two pounds and a half. The number of fractures was prodigious. The ribs were in a hundred fragments. The head of the humerus was bent; the fibulæ were curved the thigh bones and pelvis were huddled together; the bones of the vertebræ were thinned and worn away across the front of their bodies; the lower jaw was atrophied and broken into three pieces; the base of the skull was cribiform all through. Had she lived a little longer, it was thought that not a vestige of a bone would have been left in her body What ailed her no one could tell. the disease being almost unheard of and difficult to diagnose, treat, or even name. Professor R. W. Smith, of Dublin University, who brought the case before the Pathological Faculty, looked upon the condition of the bones not as a disease but as a manifestation of a diseased condition as yet unknown, possibly related to rickets.

M. E. (COLORED) DISTRICT CONFERENCE. -The District Conference of the Washington Annual Conference of the M. E. Church (colored) has just closed its first session in Staunton in the "John Wesley" chapel un-der Rev. W. W. Foreman, P. E., Rev Jos. Henry acting as Secretary. The proceedings were opened with prayer by Rev Jos. Gross Upon roll call 55 members answered to their names, representing Summers, Monroe, Berkeley and Greenbrier counties in West Virginia, and Frederick, Shenandoah, Rockingham, Augusta, Bath and Page counties in Virginia. Rev. A. Pindle of the African M. E. Church, and Rev. W. Simpson of the Baptist Church of Staunton were introduced to Conference. Licenses to preach were granted Geo Bullett, Leory Diggs, Benjamin Roberts and James Wright. Edward Frazier was granted Deacon's orders. A telegram from Rev. Henry Cellars, P. E of Jefferson Circuit, was received stating that for want of money he could not attend the Conference. The report from Sabbath Schools was favorable New missions were formed in Rock ingham and Bath counties Harrisonburg was agreed upon as the next place of meeting, and the Conference finally adjourned on Monday - Stounton Vindicator. COURT OF APPEALS -In this Court yester day the following decisions were given : Mc-Chesney vs Richardson and wite and others, from the Circuit Court of Augusta county The case involved the title to the American Hotel property, and the decision of the Circuit Court was affirmed, giving McChesney the one-fifth interest of S. B. Brown, Jr., in fee simple, and the life estate of A. S. Lars in right of his wife in another fifth, the remaining three-fifths to Jno. H. Richardson's wife, Emma Brown, and Edward Brown, and requiring McCheeney to account to the last named three for three fifths of the rents and profits from the date of the death of Mrs S B. Brown in 1868, with the right to go against A. S Lara and S. B. Brown, Jr., on their bond of indemnity to him for his loss. Judge Moncure delivered the unanimous opinion of the Court. Staunton Vindicator.

RAILWAY REFORMS -The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has put in force on its extensive lines regulations requiring passenger conductors to seat all passengers, and baggage agents to handle baggage carefully; preventing news boys and gum-drop demons from annoying passengers with importunities to purchase their wares, or otherwise annoying travelers; ordering no tickets to be sold to intoxicated persons, and instituting other whole some reforms. Many of the abuses these rules are intended to check have been of long standing, and the new order of things will take away much of the petty annoyance at present attending railway travel.

OLD UNCLE NED. - The Virginia Monitor published at Rocky Mount. Franklin county Va , says "old uncle Ned, General Early old body servant, came out to the election last Tuesday and voted the Conservative ticket One of the most enjoyable features of the day was the witnessing of this venerable and faithful old servant ride into town on horseback, dressed in a suit of gray, politely bowing to every white man he chanced to meet, scarcely deigning to notice a negro, and with a look of pride heaming upon his countenance, deposit his conservative ballot along with those cast by the friends of his old master."

At- A meeting was held in New York a few days since for the purpose of organizing the Order of the Sovereigns of Industry in that city. The order was founded in January, 1874, at Springfield. Mass. Its object is to unite mechanics artisans and laborers, who are not tillers of the soil, in a co-operative and protective association. Similar to the Order of the Patrons of Husbandry Since its foundation the order has been estab lished in twenty States Democratic rejoicing over the recent election successes seems to have a galling effect on the Radical sheet published in Martinsburg-yelept "Independent." We are not surprised.
